

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A gear reduction unit includes an electric motor that rotatably drives a drive shaft, a magnet on the drive shaft and a Hall effect sensor close to the magnet. The sensor is supported by a connector transmitting power to the electric motor. The connector may be removable. The connector has a printed circuit board defining a plane, with the sensor being offset relative to the plane defined by the circuit board.

N:\Clients\MERITOR\IP02002\PATENT\Appln2002.doc